Time brings its changes, but it also demands the change.

We trust Germany's note in answer to ours will be a promissory note.

About the only war this country could be induced to engage in is a war on the war.

The Sultan of Turkey says he was forced into the war. Of course, any ruler who wasn't forced into this war doesn't understand German.

The fellows who are yelling loud-est now for war with Germany are the same ones who inscribed their names on the "wafeful waiting" film for Mexico.

Those German scientists who claim that the human brain emits "a faint glow under certain conditions" must have been experimenting with subjects more or less "lit up."

Last year the United States exported nuts to the value of nearly thirty-four million dollars. Likewise, we were called upon to entertain some several visiting ones from abroad.

The torpedoing of the Lusitania was inexcusable, practical and damnable, but it doesn't call for war with Germany. The United States wants no war. But it does want its pride and self-respect kept intact. President Wilson's note voices the American sentiment.

Dr. Robert T. Morris, head of the Postgraduate Hospital in New York and professor of surgery in that institution, is quoted as saying that genius is nothing more or less than a germ disease, but, unfortunately, it seems to be exceedingly rare and not at all "kitching."

THE GENDER OF SHIPS.

We borrow the following bit of nautical lore from the New York Marine Journal:

"The word 'ship' is masculine in French, Italian, Spanish and Portuguese and possesses no sex in Teutonic and Scandinavian. Perhaps it would not be an error to trace the custom of feminizing ships back to the Greeks, who called them by feminine names, probably out of deference to Athena, goddess of the sea. But the English-speaking sailor assigns no such reason. The ship to him is always a lady, even though she be a man-of-war. She possesses a waist, collar, stays, laces, bonnets, ties, ribbons, chains, watches and dozens of other distinctly feminine attributes."

MASKS AND FACES.

The Colonel, at the stage of his political career when he was using the

FOR ACID STOMACHS
USE MAGNESIA

The almost universal use of magnesia by physicians and specialists in the treatment of stomach troubles is due to the fact that it stops food fermentation and neutralizes the acid—the direct cause of nearly all stomach troubles. Of the many forms of magnesia such as oxides, citrates, carbonates, bicarbonates, etc., the most suitable and efficient, and the one prescribed by leading specialists is Chamberlain's Tablets. Care should be taken to get Chamberlain's Tablets, as its action is infinitely more effective. It is also, for the way, usually stocked by druggists in convenient compressed tablets as well as in the ordinary powder form. Stomach sufferers and dropicals who follow this plan and avoid the use of opium, chloral, soda, morphine and medicines are invariably astonished to find that the stomach, relieved of the irritating acid and gas, soon regains its normal tone and can do its work alone without the double acid or artificial digestants.

big and little bosses as stepping stones in his upward climb, didn't relish an intimation from one of that genus that he was too good to "play the game" according to rule. So he replied, somewhat indignantly, "What do you take me for anyway? A kindergarten scholar?"

And this was a revelation of his real character, just as was his "For you and I, my dear Hartman, are practical men."

In both cases he intended to convey the fact that he, too, believed in machine methods of politics and the other side was purely for public consumption—a sop to the gullible middle-class who were astute enough to believe that parties could be run without skillful distribution of public patronage and contracts among faithful henchmen, or elections carried without leaving contributions on his business. That is Roosevelt as he is. The other is Roosevelt as he would like the uninitiated masses to take him to be.

BRINGING CONSUMER AND PRODUCER TOGETHER

Not the least important of the benefits flowing from extension of the parcel post is that which lies in the stimulus which is being given thereby to the express companies to enlarge, improve and cheapen their service. The Southern Express Company, for example, is preparing to put in operation a project which looks to bringing the producer and consumer of farm products closer together, to the material profit of both. With a view to encouraging direct dealing between the urban buyers and the growers of country produce, it is proposed to establish a price bulletin service which shall give both the wholesale and retail price in the various big city markets for all sorts of food supplies. These bulletins will be carefully edited to the end that both the producers and the consumers may be kept definitely and accurately informed at all times of the state of the different markets. In addition to this, there will be put in operation, we are told, a tariff of rates for the delivery of farm and food supplies which will reduce the prices to the consumers, while increasing those received by the producers—the double benefit to be effected by elimination of the middlemen and their more or less excessive profits. That the project is practicable goes almost without saying and there is not apparent reason why it should not prove successful in operation. In inaugurating it, the Southern Company is at once making a practical contribution to solution of the problem of the high cost of living and opening the way for development of a new line of profitable business for itself. The example set by one which the express companies generally would do well to seriously consider the advisability of imitating.

Whooping Cough.

"When my daughter had whooping cough she coughed so hard at one time that she had hemorrhage of the lungs. I was terribly alarmed about her condition. Seeing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy so highly recommended, I got her a bottle and it relieved the cough at once. Before she had finished two bottles of this remedy she was entirely well," writes Mrs. S. F. Grimes, Crooksville, Ohio. Obtainable everywhere.

BRILLIANTS.

The wealth you give away is the only wealth you will always possess.—Martial.

In shame there is no comfort but to be beyond all bounds of shame.—Sir Philip Sidney.

When God has once begun to throw down the prosperous, He overthrows them altogether; such is the end of the mighty.—Seneca.

If any man eat of this bread he shall live forever; and the bread that I shall give is my flesh for the life of the world.—New Testament.

Write it on your heart that every day is the best day in the year! No man has learned anything rightly until he knows that every day is Doomsday.—Emerson.

That which is called dotage is not the weak point of all old men but only of such as are distinguished by their levity and weakness.—Cicero.

Danger to Children.

Serious illnesses often result from lingering coughs and colds. The hacking and coughing and disturbed sleep rack a child's body and the poisons weaken the system, so that disease cannot be thrown off. Polley's Honey and Tar Compound has eased coughs, colds and croup for three generations; safe to use and quick to act. There is no better medicine for croup, coughs and colds. Sold everywhere.

Letter by "Jack the Ripper" and His Victim.

Mr. Richmond is innocent of the letters which you accuse him for writing to Mrs. Cohn. I am the one that wrote all of them as I told you in one of my letters that is going to be the biggest murder he committed in N. Y. that was ever known now do you see I am true.

Leonore Cohn.

New York detectives are mystified by the strange letters written in connection with the murders of little Leonore Anna Cohn, March 19, and of Charles Murray, May 3. One of these sent to Henry Eckert, uncle of the murdered girl, for the police, threatened new murders of children. Whether it was really the work of the murderer of the children or some diseased mind they do not pretend to guess. But they began work on the theory that the writer was the murderer. This is a part of part of the letter to the police:

Mr. Richmond is innocent of the letters which you accuse him for writing to Mrs. Cohn. I am the one that wrote all of them as I told you in one of my letters that is going to be the biggest murder he committed in N. Y. that was ever known now do you see I am true.

Stories From the Theaters of War.

By Frederick White

The Hague. (By Mail).—Holland is now suffering from high food prices. The result of various causes chief of which was the rush of Dutch producers at the beginning of the war to take advantage of the increased demand from abroad and the consequent augmented rates offered by foreign buyers.

Retail prices of a number of articles of consumption have arisen in ever-increasing ratio ever since the outbreak of hostilities. Statistics covering 27 articles have been compiled and these show that during the average cost at 100 during the past twenty years, the prices have now risen by 30 per cent. Prices, however, had started going up some time before the war. In fact, since 1907 they have been rising steadily two or three points a year until July, 1914, when they stood at 113. From August to December last year they jumped suddenly to 121. In January of this year they had mounted to 129. In February to 130 and they are still going up.

Meat, especially pork, has gone up considerably in price. Part of this increase is due to the rise in fodder, hay and straw, not much of it has been brought about by the passing of the frontier into Germany.

erminent found itself compelled to fix a maximum price for retail selling, as the working classes had begun to feel the pinch.

Cabbage and other green vegetables have also become more expensive since Germany has been calling for more and more imports of truck garden produce. The truck gardeners are naturally making good profits and the Dutch consumers find themselves compelled to pay more for their vegetables. The truck farmers, however, are making strong opposition to a proposal to regulate or prohibit exports of these products, which they declare would ruin their business. They argue that the sale by them of their produce to foreigners brings money into Holland which otherwise would not reach this country and which helps the people to tide over the hard times brought on by the war. Meantime the Dutch housewife is compelled to pay more for her food and sees no benefit coming to her from the increased exports.

How Mrs. Harrod Got Rid of Her Stomach Trouble.

"I suffered with stomach trouble for years and tried everything I heard of, but the only relief I got was temporary until last spring I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them at our drug store. I got immediate relief from that dreadful heaviness after eating and from pain in the stomach," writes Mrs. Linda Harrod, Fort Wayne, Ind. Obtainable everywhere.

THE PRESS AND GUTHRIE.

Another Feather in Guthrie's Cap. From El Reno American: Over two hundred editors, their wives and families attended the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Oklahoma Press association at Guthrie Friday and Saturday, May 7 and 8.

Nothing that could add in any way to the entertainment of the visitors was left undone, and Guthrie, famed as she is, for her hospitality and good fellowship, has another feather in her cap, for certainly no organization, ever met with more genial welcome at her hands.

Great thanks are due L. G. Niblack, editor Guthrie Leader; John Golobie, editor State Register; Fred Wenner, secretary Chamber of Commerce; Mayor Niesley; L. F. Leach and Wm. Hornaday, for the forethought and care with which each detail of entertainment was planned and carried out, and behind these men stood Guthrie to the last man with open doors, and the glad hand out to greet all comers.

Thursday evening the editors began to arrive, and all day Friday the information bureau in the lobby of the lone hotel was a busy place. Each one received a neat badge with his name on it and a package of complimentary tickets, which admitted to all the theaters, the municipal bath, the association dinner, street car fare was included, and as souvenirs, the Kansas City Paper House gave boxes of stationery and the city gave a quart bottle of mineral water.

Various points of interest in Guthrie were visited in automobiles, one of the most delightful being the cotton mill, visited Friday, after one business session. It is one of the thriving concerns of the state, though many did not know of its existence. A hall of fame was given to each visitor, Friday evening a complimentary program was given to the editorial association, by Edwin M. Steckel, organizer, assisted by some of the vocal talent of the state, at his magnificent music temple. Mr. Steckel proved himself thoroughly the master of the pipe organ. An effective tableau, "Liberty," was received with cheer upon cheer by the audience and closed the program.

"Greatest Time Ever."

El Reno, Okla., May 11, 1915. Mr. Fred L. Wenner, Guthrie, Okla. Dear Mr. Wenner: We did not know what a good time we had in Guthrie until we had returned home and had time to think it over. The Guthrie meeting was the greatest one that was ever held in Oklahoma. Personally we desire to thank you all for the greatest time we ever had. Guthrie still holds the banner for knowing how to entertain and you people are generous enough to do it as no other city in the state has done. Come to see us, all of you Guthrie people. You are welcome in El Reno, always.

Some Entertainers. From Lawton Constitution: The City of Guthrie and her people are the entertainers of the state. From Shawnee Herald: Guthrie has a big thing in her municipal bath house. Most Orderly Town. From Purcell Register: At Guthrie things are free and easy. And yet Guthrie is the most orderly town in the state. Made a Success. From Alta Review: Guthrie sure knows how to entertain. Her newspaper men took charge of things at the State Press meet and made the meeting a great success. The Most Successful Meeting. From Lawton Constitution: The State Press meet this year was one of the most successful in the history of the association. It was largely attended and entertained the best in the history of the state. We must take our hats off to the Guthrie people and make our most

"Did Herself Proud."

From Crescent City News: Guthrie did herself proud last week in the entertainment of the editors of the state on the occasion of the annual session of the Oklahoma State Editorial association. There were some all the theaters, the municipal bath, the association dinner, street car fare was included, and as souvenirs, the Kansas City Paper House gave boxes of stationery and the city gave a quart bottle of mineral water.

Guthrie has the finest bath house in America, and Logan county and Oklahoma join with her in being proud of it. The curative waters have drawn people from far and near to take advantage of its great virtues, in fact it seems wonderful. The editors are under many grateful to Guthrie for her fine entertainment last week, and all bespeak for her much prosperity in the future.

Best Thing for a Silious Attack.

"On account of my confinement in the printing office I have for years been a chronic sufferer from indigestion and liver trouble. A few weeks ago I had an attack that was so severe that I was not able to go to the case for two days. Failing to get any relief from any other treatment, I took three of Chamberlain's Tablets and the next day I felt like a new man," writes H. C. Bailey, Editor Carolina News, Chapin, S. C. Obtainable everywhere.

Did the Work.

From Vian Record: The Guthrie mineral waters do the work. We vouch for it.

The Villain outvillained.

"I wouldn't trust him," she argued. "Neither would I," assented the other girl; "he's as treacherous as a fountain pen."

grateful how to the ladies of Guthrie. There was a month's entertainment crowded into three days and evenings. It was timed like clock work and there was not a hitch and the program was so full of interesting events that it will always be held and referred to as a memorable meeting of which the state association will always be proud.

The press program was carried out fully, and there were many things that deserve special mention. The ladies of Guthrie were not outdone by the men, for they entertained the ladies attending the press meet in a most elaborate manner, with dinners, receptions, musicales and auto parties.

There was nothing left undone for the pleasure and entertainment of the visitors.

Big Success.

From Clinton News: The Guthrie Leader made the National convention in Guthrie a big success. And The Leader was energetic in making the last State meeting attractive.
